The aim of this event is to highlight the progressive and collaborative nature of perioperative care practice. In 2020, the international year of the nurse and midwife, we will be embodying education as the theme for the conference, we will highlight the existing challenges that the current workforce experiences and promote learning opportunities across the spectrum of perioperative care professionals. We will also explore advancements of education and showcase the achievements of our practices history and all the good things to come.

Conference topics include:

- standardisation of post registration perioperative care courses
- the future and evolution of ODP education
- sustainability in nurse education
- using narrative pedagogy with teaching in the operating theatre
- role and training for assistant theatre practitioners.
