

JAMES QUAH

NURSE CLINICIAN
EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT
SENGKANG GENERAL HOSPITAL

OBJECTIVES

To deliver good healthcare;

To develop an engaged and competent healthcare workforce.

To make Nursing respected, professional, and nurturing.

CONTACT

M 90083264

E jamesquah@hotmail.com

@jquahr

www.linkedin.com/in/jamesqrn

<https://www.facebook.com/jamesquahrenren/>

James is currently an Emergency Nurse Clinician at Sengkang General Hospital, the newest regional hospital in Singapore. He is also currently the Singapore Nurses Association's – Critical Care Nurses Chapter Chairperson.

James is a trained Critical Care Nurse, with a background in Neuro and Surgical Intensive Care, working in Singapore's largest and oldest hospital, Singapore General Hospital.

He has been in active service as a Commissioned Officer (Rank of Military Expert 4) with the Singapore Armed Forces Medical Corps where he has been an Intensive Care Unit trainer, and trainer for Mobile Surgical Units and Combat Support Hospitals. On top of the background in military critical care, he has an interest in Tactical and Disaster/ Terrorist medicine.

Having a keen interest in taking medical and nursing care out-of-the-hospital, he is actively involved with the Medical Team and operations of the Singapore Formula One race. He has also been involved in numerous Critical Care evacuations (land and air).

Background

Intensive Care
Emergency/ Trauma
Neurology
Military/ Tactical Medicine
Disaster/ Terrorist Medicine
Motorsports Medicine
Pre-Hospital Care
Critical Care Transport (Air & Land)

Workplaces

Sengkang General Hospital
Singapore General Hospital
Singapore Armed Forces (Medical Corps & Signal)
Tan Tock Seng Hospital (Part Time)
Singapore Grand Prix Medical Team (Volunteer)