

Working with Prevention:

A Workshop for Nurses and AHPs

Presented by North London Partners in Health and Care and London Capital Nurse

19th February 2018 from 1:15 pm – 4:45 pm

at the NCVO Conference Centre, Kings Cross, London N1 9RL

Much of the ill health, poor quality of life and health inequalities across North Central London (NCL) are preventable, which is why Prevention has been made a priority area for the region's Sustainability and Transformation Plan (STP). Nurses and Allied Health Professionals (AHPs) have a crucial role within prevention and in improving the public's health. They are fundamental in addressing the underlying causes of ill health, minimising the impact of illness, and promoting good health.

This workshop will cover:

- Ways to build prevention into everyday practice and maximise the public health impact of nurses and AHPs, across all care pathways and in all settings.
- Use of local case studies and introducing tools and resources to support making prevention part of everyday practice.
- Ways of helping participants plan and develop specific interventions promoting prevention which are impactful, measurable and practical in terms of available resources.

Who can attend:

- All Nurses and AHPs in the NCL STP area (Barnet, Camden, Enfield, Haringey and Islington) who feel motivated and energised to share their experiences and ideas of implementing public health, health promotion, ill-health prevention and health protection activities, all who are interested to learn more about and keen to embrace prevention within their role and how to take this forward.
- Directors of Nursing, Therapy Leads and Service Leads, who have experience in supporting the prevention agenda and setting up services.
- Clinicians who have been instrumental in initiating plans or in implementing local projects.

This is a free workshop and spaces will be limited. Places to be allocated on first come first served basis. Lunch and refreshments will be provided.
