Nominations are invited from fellow health care professionals.

Candidates will be required to demonstrate that they were instrumental in setting up a project, or have initiated and led changes in practice, that have had a demonstrable benefit for patient or client care.

How to apply

Fill out the application form and complete a 500 word summary about the project or work changes in practice incorporating the following information:

- project title and description
- motivation for project or changes in nursing practice including any research or evidence associated with this
- the contribution that has been made to patient care
- an outline of the workplace environment

- how the work or practice has been evaluated.

Nominees for the RCN Northern Ireland Nurse of the Year Award must be either in the process of completing a project or have initiated and led changes in practice within 18 months of entering the competition. Please check that the person you wish to nominate is content for you to nominate them. Nominations must be made by someone who is familiar with the work of the nominee.

Selection will be made by a panel of judges. All awards and prizes are non-transferable. The judges' decision is final.

Joint nominations will only be considered if they demonstrate clearly that the work undertaken was of a joint nature. Entries of more than two people per nomination will not be accepted.

If short-listed, the candidate will be required to attend an interview on a date to be confirmed by the RCN. The awards ceremony will take place at the Culloden Hotel on 6 June 2019.

Attendance at the interview and awards ceremony is mandatory. Any candidate who withdraws from the awards ceremony after interview will be disqualified.

Application forms received after the closing date will not be considered.

The RCN reserves the right to disqualify candidates at any stage of the competition should it judge that it is in the best interest of the nursing and midwifery professions to do so.
